Happy Spring! Violent crime remains steady and property crime have seen an decrease this past month in Sector 211.

Violent crime has remained the same over the past 28 days in comparison to this time last year. Sector 211 had one homicide that occurred in the 3900 block of Hull Street and six aggravated assaults.

Property crimes have decreased by 17%. Theft from motor vehicles and motor vehicle thefts are both down. Our most recent trend is theft of HVAC units and copper—with most occurring to houses under renovation. Please call us if you see any suspicious persons or work vehicles.

Second Precinct is holding its Town Hall meeting, Tuesday, April 17. If interested, please see the last page of this newsletter.

If you have any other concerns or questions, please feel free to contact me at any time.

CRIME OF THE WEEK

From: Detective Benjamin Toderico

NUMBER: 18-14

DATE OF RELEASE: 4/9/2018

Crime Stoppers wants to help the Richmond Police with their investigation into a series of copper and air conditioning unit thefts.

The neighborhoods of Swansboro, Broad Rock and Reedy Creek have had 15 of these thefts this year. The thieves target vacant homes that are for sale and homes that are under construction. The thefts often occur in the early morning hours, but a few have happened in the late afternoon or early evening. Once the thieves steel the perfectly good AC units or copper it is then sold for scrap.

If you have information about these thefts or any unsolved crime or fugitive wanted in the Metro Richmond Area, call Crime Stoppers at 780-1000 or submit your tip through the P3 Tips App.

Places of Worship Safety & Awareness Forum

Places of worship have a unique challenge when it comes to crime prevention, security, and safety. They want to be open and welcoming to the community outside while also protecting the people and property inside. With some awareness and thoughtful planning it is possible to be both hospitable and careful.
